Rising Temperature

Some scientists predict that the earth's temperature will increase appreciably in the coming years. Their prediction is based on the rapid rise in consumption of coal and oil, which has increased the amount of carbon dioxide in the earth's atmosphere and carbon dioxide helps the earth hold the heat of the sun.

McNamara in Hot Water Over Plane

BY BEM PRICE

NEW YORK (AP) — The bitter controversy over whether Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara forced a second-best warplane on the nation's military to save $1 billion is heating up again.

This latest outbreak centers around development of the Navy version of the TFX — tactical fighter experimental — now known as the F111B.

As a weapons system — aircraft wedded to missile — the program is 12 to 18 months behind schedule.

The first three prototypes were so badly overweight they were useless for carrier operations.

Further, the research and development costs for the weapons system are soaring although this is not uncommon in projects involving new weaponry.

The F111 — and there are two versions to date — may not turn out to be the all-weather, all-purpose air superiority aircraft originally envisioned by McNamara.

The Marine Corps already has told Congress it does not intend to buy the F111 in either the Air Force or Navy versions for close air support of troops.

There have been published reports out of Washington indicating that the Senate Investigations subcommittee, headed by Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., may reopen its still uncompleted hearings.

In 1963 the McClellan subcommittee heard testimony covering over 2,700 pages and collected in 10 volumes, but it never issued a finding.

To date the controversy over the F111B has swirled around the first three prototypes.

A slimmed-down fourth prototype, identified as No. 4 F111B, was rolled off the assembly line in July and its builders contend it will meet the Navy's operating requirements although it, too, is still somewhat overweight. The No. 4 has been flown for 80 minutes.

A Navy decision of whether to buy the F111B is not expected until December after full evaluation of a fifth prototype, which is due for production this month.

Secretary of the Navy Paul Nitze said on July 27 that the F111B was a weapons system "we must make work."

The controversy over the TFX, or F111 began in 1962 when McNamara overrode the recommendations of a 235-man panel of aircraft experts four times.

The panel had recommended acceptance of a design submitted by the Boeing Co., of Seattle.

McNamara selected the General Dynamics design on the grounds that it offered the best chance of producing an aircraft with a high degree of what he called "commonality," that is, identical parts.

The defense chief characterized the Boeing cost estimates as unrealistic although Boeing had been working on a design for a variable sweep-wing aircraft, such as the TFX, since 1959.

In the original competition Boeing proposed to build 23 research and development aircraft for $466 million. General Dynamics' proposal was $543 million.

McNamara told the McClellan hearing the purchase of a single warplane for use by the Air Force, Navy and Marines would save a least $1 billion.

Subsequently, when the subcommittee asked the then Comptroller General Joseph Campbell to check McNamara's savings claim, Campbell reported he could find no figures and quoted McNamara as saying "he had made rough judgments of the kind he had made for many years with the Ford Motor Co." McNamara is a former Ford president.

During the course of the hearings there were assorted charges of favoritism, conflict of interest and lack of Defense Department cooperation, but McNamara refused to budge.

At the time of the contract award, there was congressional testimony that to buy 1,704 TFX warplanes with spare parts and spare engines would cost around $7.8 billion.

As matters now stand, Rear Adm. W. E. Sweeney told a House Appropriations subcommittee last March the Navy F111B research program was running about 30 per cent higher than estimated.

Further, Sweeney said, overall research, development and engineering costs had climbed from $84 million to around $210 million.

despite some foot-dragging by the three motors and one of the two steels in the club.

At the halfway mark in the race this year, 18 companies already had made more than $100 million each.

With the few exceptions, most of the companies are setting a faster earnings pace this year than at the same time in 1965. This was also true of the majority of corporations, those who make more modest profits.

The after-tax earnings of 1,316 nonfinancial corporations tabulated by the First National City Bank, New York, totaled $13.3 billion, or 12 per cent more than in the 1965 first half. Year-to-year gains were reported by 83 per cent of the companies. Their second quarter profits this year came to $6.9 billion, up 8 per cent from the March quarter and 12 per cent above the like 1965 period.

Manufacturing companies showed a 11 per cent gain in the first half of 1966 over the year earlier figures. Railroads were up 30 per cent. Electric and gas utilities were up 6 per cent and telephone and telegraph companies 12 per cent.

But it is the biggest money earners that produce the really flashy figures at the halfway point in 1966.

As compiled by The Associated Press, the nine biggest kept their comparative rank — from No. 1 General Motors with $1.14 billion in net income in the first six months to No. 9 California Standard Oil with $212,929,000. But Mobil Oil had moved into 10th place with $174.6 million. For the whole of 1965 General Electric was 10th, but in mid-1966 it was 11th with $172.6 million.

After GM, in order, come AT&T as No. 2, Jersey Standard Oil, Ford, Texaco, IBM, Gulf Oil. Du Pont is No. 8.

Bridegroom Nugent Master of Brevity, Like Late Coolidge

By RAYMOND J. CROWLEY
WASHINGTON (AP) — Patrick John Nugent, bridegroom, is at 23 years of age a strong silent type.

So far his verbal contributions to the public record have run like this:

Q. What does he think about the wedding preparations?

A. "It's Luci's wedding."

Q. What is it like, being engaged to a president's daughter?

A. "I have never been engaged before."

Onlookers have noted that these remarks bear a resemblance to the style of the late President Calvin Coolidge.

And there may be a second resemblance — Nugent could be a Republican. At least nobody is saying how he voted in 1964, and he is the son of Republicans.

His father, Gerard Peter Nugent, a district sales manager for an investment firm, is of Irish descent. His mother, the former Thelma Jocius, is of Lithuanian origin. They have lived for 25 years in a modest bungalow in Waukegan, Ill., about 35 miles north of Chicago.

They sent Patrick to Marquette University in Milwaukee, where he majored in history and got a B average. He was captain of his Alpha Kappa Psi fraternity football team, and his college friends describe the 6-foot-1 lad with the close-cropped blond hair as a likeable, regular guy who becomes a "take charge" person when there is work to do.

He and Luci met through mutual friends at Marquette, and their first date was his senior prom in June 1965. When Luci was baptized into the Roman Catholic Church in Washington last year, Nugent was present and it was during this period that their relationship grew close.

What drew her, Luci said, was the discovery that he is a very strong, honest person, "a very sincerely religious person" and "somebody I can talk to."

Upon graduating from Marquette, Nugent moved to Washington and got a $99-a-week job with the Advisory Council on Higher Education of the District of Columbia. Later he became associate director of a counseling firm which aims to help schools and colleges in applying for federal funds.

As an airman third class in the National Guard, he went on summer training and his picture was taken carrying mops on KP duty.

When Luci and he decided to marry, he memorized a little speech to be sure he wouldn't forget it in the awesome, presidential presence. He spoke it, and obtained the blessing.

Luci and he plan to attend the University of Texas, he to work for a master's degree in business administration, and she to study as yet undecided subjects. Speculation is that he will eventually work in the Johnson broadcasting enterprises in Texas.

As for Nugent's hobbies, a news release from the White House says:

"Pat is an avid golf fan. In addition he reads considerably, primarily best-sellers and week-

NOTICE

The ad recently published by the machine candidate in the towns and cities having vocational schools, is simply another desperate and hysterical attempt to beloud the issue.

Justice Jim Johnson stated, succinctly, his platform, released in its entirety on Sunday, July 24, 1966, that he would support vocational and technical schools.

What he said is here reproduced verbatim:

"VOCATIONAL EDUCATION AND TRADE SCHOOLS"

"We shall adequately support the Dept. of Vocational Education the trade schools and the School of Technology in order that more people will be better equipped to earn a better living in a highly organized industrial society."

The school to be constructed in your town has his whole hearted endorsement and enthusiastic support.

HELEN HELP US!

SUMMERTIME: ONE LONG SCAVENGER HUNT

Dear Helen: How does a mother cope? We live in a typical suburb with typical hungry kids. Actually, they're more like a big swarm of locusts.

When Jimmy and his friends walk through the kitchen, everything eatable disappears, and I think they may start on the curtains next.

I try saying "No!" but then I get, "Aw, Mom, do you want us to look like cheapskates? All the mothers feed us."

It's true: They get punch at one house; cookies at another; fruit at the third, sandwiches somewhere along the line; ice cream, candy, carrot sticks everywhere but a full course evening meal, which they manage to come home to, except for the times somebody stays overnight, and that's often too.

Even if budgets can stand it, I don't see how their stomachs can. Will they last until school starts? Or, more to the point, will I? — Feeding the "Punch and Foody" Set

Dear FTPAFS: You will, and so will the kids. Actually the perpetual summer scavenger hunt provides a fairly well balanced diet, what with fruit, carrot and celery sticks, sandwiches, ice cream, etc. — and without too great expense for each family because it's spread around.

The trick, of course, is to keep inexpensive snacks handy and let Jimmy know from the start what he can pass around and which food stays off limits. A neighborhood mothers' club helps stabilize the snack pack. — H.

Dear Helen: Do you approve of women going to men's apartments to listen to their records, cook dinner, etc., instead of men visiting the ladies in their apartments. — M. C. J.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hollywood is full of nervous Davids these days, anxiously awaiting the start of September battles with television's Colathis.

The battle grounds will be time periods.

Thus on Sunday nights, a half hour NBC comedy called "Hey, Landlord," will try to compete against two powerful opponents — the perennial Ed Sullivan hour on CBS and ABC's "FBI." Last season this combination of shows squeezed Chuck Connors' "Branded" right out of network TV.

Andy Williams has got to be unhappy about his new position in NBC's lineup. His variety hour has been shifted to the 10-11 p.m. spot on Sunday nights, a time period that has proved deadly for his two predecessors — "The Rogues" and "Wackiest Ship In The Army."

Nash Hurls 5th Straight to Beat Nats

By RON RAPAPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Rookie pitcher Jim Nash used to be able to get into a ball game only when there was a fight on the field when he would sneak out to throw a few punches.

But now there is a growing number of American League batters who wouldn't mind committing a little mayhem on the 21-year-old Georgian. He beat Washington 4-3 for his fifth straight victory without a loss since joining Kansas City a month ago.

Nash was signed by the Athletics in 1964 and sent to a farm team in Daytona Beach, Fla., whose manager was told that under no circumstances was the 6-foot-5, 225-pound right-hander to be used in a game. The A's wanted to hide him from the rookie draft and didn't want any other major league teams to know he even existed.

So Nash's activity was confined to pitching batting practice and "sitting in the bullpen and talking to the mosquitoes. I did get on the field once that summer. We got into a fight one night at Miami.

"I got a couple of guys — threw them around pretty good," Nash remembered. "But one of them was our first baseman. In a crowd, you don't always have time to pick out the right uniform. I never did tell him that I knocked him down."

But lately, Nash hasn't had to sneak around any dark corners at the ballpark. The Athletics don't mind who knows about him. Since coming out from Mobile of the Southern League in July, he's compiled a 2.65 ERA and struck out 43 men besides winning five of the seven games he's been in.

In other American League contests Thursday, Cleveland beat first-place Baltimore 3-1, Minnesota clipped Boston 2-1, and California sank New York 11-7.

In the National League, New York beat San Francisco 8-6, Chicago took Atlanta 5-2, Pittsburgh bombed Los Angeles 8-1, Philadelphia crushed Houston 12-2 and Cincinnati downed St. Louis 7-1.

Phil Roof drove in two runs with a single in Kansas City's triumph and Jack Aker came in for Nash in the seventh inning and picked up his 17th save of the season.

Gary Bell held the Orioles to three hits and Leon Wagner drove in one run and scored another in the Indians' victory. It was Cleveland's second straight win over the Birds. Brooks Robinson got two of the Baltimore hits.

Jim Kaat threw a four-hitter at the Red Sox, but the game was deadlocked until the eighth inning when Jim Hall's 12th homer of the season for the Twins settled matters. Jose Santiago had only given up four hits to Minnesota before Hall's shot.

Swoboda of Mets Jonah for Giants

By MIKE RECHT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Ron Swoboda, unlike lightning, has struck twice in the same place, and Bill Henry has been left smoking.

Just two weeks ago, Swoboda flashed off the New York Mets' bench and jolted fireman Henry by slugging the veteran reliever for a ninth-inning homer that gave the Mets a 3-2 victory over the San Francisco Giants.

Thursday, the 22-year-old right-handed hitter reduced lefty Henry to ashes, again coming off the bench in the ninth with a crackling three-run clout that carried the Mets to an 8-6 triumph over the Giants.

"It was just like a fairy tale," said Swoboda, relegated to pinch hitting this season when the opposition starts a right-hander.

"I couldn't help thinking about the earlier homer when I went to the plate."

"I certainly did think about it," said Mets' manager Wes Westrum. "I was hoping history would repeat itself."

The earlier belt kept the Giants out of a virtual tie for first place in the National League. This one dropped them into second place, two percentage points behind Pittsburgh, which hammered Los Angeles 8-1.

Philadelphia and Cincinnati continued their push toward the top as the Phillies trounced Houston 12-2 for their seventh straight triumph and the Reds won their fifth in a row, beating St. Louis 7-1.

Chicago tripped Atlanta 5-2 in the other NL game on Ernie Banks' three-run homer.

Cleveland whipped first-place Baltimore 3-1, Minnesota nipped Boston 2-1, California outslugged the New York Yankees 11-7 and Kansas City nudged Washington 4-3 in the only American League games scheduled.

The Mets trailed 6-1 entering the ninth when Ken Boyer started the Mets' thunder with a homer off Juan Marichal, seeking his 18th victory. Lindy McDaniel, who took the loss, relieved and gave up singles to Ed Bressoud and John Stephenson. Then Henry entered and moments later Swoboda struck.

Willie McCovey, Jim Hart and Tom Haller homered for Giants and Johnny Stephenson also connected for the Mets.

The Pirates had little trouble as they dropped the third-place Dodgers two games back with a 16-hit attack, most against Los Angeles pitching this season.

Manny Mota led the onslaught with two triples, two runs batted in and three runs scored.

Vern Law scattered six hits for his first complete game since July 8 and seventh triumph in 12 decisions.

The Phils crept within 4 1/2 games of Pittsburgh as they bombed Dave Giusti and relievers for five runs in the third inning and six in the fifth to give Jim Bunning his 12th victory against seven setbacks.

Cookie Rojas belted a three-run homer and Johnny Briggs drove in four runs with a homer and double.

A revived Sam Ellis, who has won three straight and is now 8-14, gave the Reds their 10th success in 11 games and 15th in 18 as they swept their four-game set with the Cardinals.

Dick Simpson opened the home run and Tommy Haper extended his hitting streak to 20 games. Cincinnati climbed within a half-game of the fifth-place Cardinals, who have dropped five in a row.

New Oilers Carry Their Own Weight

HOUSTON OILERS
One of a Series

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
HOUSTON (AP) — "Huddle 'em up, huddle 'em up," barked Houston Coach Wally Lemm as he drove the Oilers through a workout. "C'mon, let's work."

The players broke out of the huddle, executed the play and trotted back to hear Lemm yell: "Can't you guards see, All you have to do is look. It's simple — just look. Okay, let's get going."

"Huddle 'em up, huddle 'em up."

And they do it again. And again. And they seem to relish it for organization seems to have returned to the Oilers, the first team to build a dynasty in the American Football League and the first to let it slip away because of organization difficulties.

But, with Don Klosterman in as general manager and Lemm returning to the scene of his greatest achievements — he took them to the championship with 10 consecutive victories in 1961 — the front office has moved out of last place in the Eastern Division.

Now it's possible the team may also.

The biggest single improvement will come because of size, with the Oilers physically able to match other teams for the first time in several years. The biggest single individual in the size department will be controversial defensive tackle Ernie Ladd.

Ladd, the hulking 6-foot-9, 312-pound All-AFL selection, played out his option with San Diego and eventually signed with the Oilers, who then had to send All-league tight end Willie Frazier and defensive back Pete Jacques to the Chargers.

Ladd already has been penciled in for one spot on the front four, moving ahead of Ed Husmann as soon as he joined the club. At the other tackle spot, Scott Appleton also has taken a step back, with Pat Holmes a 6-6, 270-pounder, awarded the job off his play in the Canadian League.

Veterans Gary Cutsinger and Don Floyd man the end spots with Johnny Baker, Doug Cline and Dan Brabham at the line-backing spots backed up by sophomore Bobby Maples and impressive newcomers such as Ron Goovert of Michigan State and John Meyer of Notre Dame.

The defensive backfield is veteran with Tony Banfield and W. K. Hicks at the corners and Jim Northy and Gary Glick the safeties.

Right now the big hole is at tackle with Walt Suggs the only veteran available since Rich Michael was injured. Glen Ray Hines of Arkansas, a top draft choice, could help but he has been with the College All-Stars. The job at present has fallen to Len Sears, an unheralded but promising product of South Carolina.

The guard spots are held by John Wittenborn and Sonny Bishop and the center spot by John Frongillo. The depth behind, however, is at least a year away and the line could be vulnerable to injuries.

And with Willie Frazier lost to the Chargers for Ladd, the Oilers also are down to one veteran tight end, Bob McLeod. And the quarterback job still is up for grabs among 17-year vet George Blanda and two youngsters, Don Trull and Jacky Lee.

The No. 1 quarterback will have able wide receivers with Charley Hennigan, the incumbent, at flanker and Charley Frazier at split end. Larry Elkins, out all last year with an injury, could wind up with either job, however.

And the Oilers could have their strongest running attack in years with Sid Blanks returning after a year's absence and, with little Ode Burrell, giving the Oilers' two breakaway threats.

In addition, the Oilers have picked up long time National League star John Henry Johnson to step into the fullback battle with Dean Stone, an acquisition from Buffalo; rookie Hoyte Granger of Mississippi State and holdover Charlie Tolar.

In the second game College Hill defeated Okay 6 to 1. Seward was the winning pitcher and Fincher the loser.

College Hill collected 8 hits and Okay had 3. Seward had 2 doubles for College Hill. For Okay, Delaney hit a home run.

Tonight College Hill and Wake Village meet in the finals at 7:30.

Exhibition Season for Grid Pros

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

A prestige test for an established team and the game baptism of a fledgling one are the highlights as the professional football exhibition season gets under way in earnest this weekend.

Placing their pride on the line will be the Green Bay Packers, champions of the National Football League, who play the College All-Stars tonight in the 33rd annual charity game at Soldier Field in Chicago.

Making their debut will be the new Miami Dolphins of the American Football League, who play the Chargers in San Diego Saturday night.

In other Saturday games involving NFL teams, the New York Giants meet Pittsburgh at Ithaca, N.Y., in the afternoon, while Atlanta is at St. Louis, Cleveland is at Los Angeles, Chicago clashes with Philadelphia at Memphis, Tenn., and Minnesota takes on Detroit at New Orleans, La., in night games.

Another AFL game Saturday night will have Kansas City at Denver.

Sunday, Dallas plays at San Francisco in an NFL exhibition and Buffalo is at Boston in an AFL preview.

The Packers are two-touchdown favorites to give the pros their 22nd victory over the All-Stars, who have won nine and tied two.

Dick Wood, a four-year AFL veteran who was drafted from Oakland, will start at quarterback for the Dolphins against San Diego, the defending Western Division champion.

The Packer veterans must demonstrate they are not ready for replacement.

Undoubtedly, with all the money on the hoof, this game will keep fingers crossed as never before by NFL and AFL officials. Injury could shelve a $500,000 investment for the season.

Among other well-heeled rookies going against the Packers are linebacker Tommy Nobis of Texas, $550,000 signee of the Atlanta Falcons; linebacker Frank Emanuel of Tennessee, $350,000, Miami Dolphins, and halfback Mike Garrett, Southern California Heisman Trophy winner, $325,000, Kansas City Chiefs.

Are there really any sound reasons for buying a Chevrolet in August?

During August, it's as easy to own a Bel Air 4-Door Sedan as getting in the car.

Wait till you see how sporty you look sitting in your Impala Super Sport.

In a word: Six

1. Have you ever known the instant delight of selecting a new Impala Super Sport in the color you want, slipping into its Strato-bucket seats, and driving it home from the showroom the same day? Now's your chance. Your Chevrolet dealer has a big choice of models on hand with small August price tags.
2. More than likely, your present car will never be worth as much in trade as it is right now. Money — another good reason to buy a Chevrolet this month.
3. Read those articles about when to buy a new car and they'll tell you that August is one of the best months. And your Chevrolet dealer is ready to show you why... with buys that are better than ever.
4. If you think winter's tough on an old car, believe us, so is summer. There's added strain on the engine because of vacation driving. Greater tire wear. The cooling system has to work extra hard. A new Chevrolet can save you a lot of trouble.
5. You do a lot of driving for pleasure so why not ride on Chevrolet's Full Coil suspension. Let your feet feel that deep-twist Chevrolet carpeting. August is to enjoy.
6. Make your summer driving safer driving by taking advantage of the eight standard safety features built into every new Chevrolet. If your present car doesn't have seat belts, back-up lights, outside rearview mirror, padded instrument panel, look into a new Chevrolet.

MORE than 50 per cent of the voters in Arkansas want a change in the Attorney General's office!

Let's GO! with JOE!

and finish the job
on August 9th!

Elect:
JOE PURCELL
ATTORNEY GENERAL
AND HAVE DIGNITY- INTEGRITY- RESPONSIBILITY

Pd. for by Sheriff Horace Hale, Nevada County and Miss Opal Daniel, Aunt of Mrs. Joe Purcell.

Dear Friends:

I have been in business here in Hope, Arkansas for the past 14 years. I have seen businesses with their ups and downs. I have seen them come and go. I have seen business good as well as bad. I have seen people complain but never offer a solution. I have seen people criticize who were never complementary. I have seen people smile who wanted to cry. I have seen people send but were never willing to go. I have seen people doing for others when it would have been more profitable financially to have been doing for themselves.

I have seen the county over $87,000.00 in debt. I have seen the county operate within a budget. I have seen the county unable to pay their bills on time and I have seen the county pay their bills on time.

What kind of citizen are you?

What kind of government do you want?

For continued honest and efficient county government, re-elect my Dad, Orie O. Byers, your County Judge.

name the John Birch Society as he proposed — was the primary election victim of the conservatives he was fighting.
At a Los Angeles meeting of the GOP governors in July, Smylie was urged to call them together even before the election to solidify their anticonservative campaign within the party. But he said there was no use having the Republican executives meet until it was certain which ones would have "a ticket to the main tent" after the election.
Having been denied such a ticket himself, he may leave it to others to decide whether the Republican state executives get together in December, as planned, to organize for the 1968 presidential campaign.
Because of the actual and potential gaps in the ranks of the moderates, any such meeting conceivably could produce a surge toward conservatism by the GOP governors instead of breathing new life into the moderate cause.
Liberals in GOP Lose Top Leader
By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Republican Governors Association, the only effective sponsor of efforts to restore moderates to power in the Republican party, is losing its chairman and principal dynamo.
The defeat of Idaho Gov. Robert E. Smylie in his bid for re-nomination for a fourth term will leave GOP governors all but leaderless in their efforts to remold the party's conservative image.
They could suffer further damage in this respect if Gov. George Romney of Michigan should be upset in November. The nomination of former Gov. G. Mennen Williams for the Senate in Tuesday's primary strengthens the Democratic ticket and could make it more difficult for Romney to "win big" and thus step to the front ranks of contenders for the 1968 GOP presidential nomination.
Among the GOP moderates, there is recognition that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller is fighting for political survival in New York. They already have lost out in California with the nomination of Ronald Reagan, a 1964 supporter of Barry Goldwater, as the party's candidate for governor.
Another star in their particular firmament, Gov. William W. Scranton of Pennsylvania, ends his tenure in January. And Gov. Mark O. Hatfield of Oregon is trying to transfer to the U.S. Senate.
These actual and potential changes, combined with Smylie's defeat, could result in a complete breakdown in organized efforts to oust conservatives from the positions of local party power they still retain two years after Goldwater's landslide loss.
Smylie, who took the lead in getting the Republican Policy Coordinating Committee to adopt a resolution denouncing extremism — although it did not

Prison-Made Supplies Go to Viet Nam
WASHINGTON (AP) — A growing supply line of carefully produced goods is finding its way into the Viet Nam war effort from behind the walls of more than a dozen U.S. prisons.
From torpedo parts to toothbrushes, from mattresses to rebuilt tank treads, thousands of society's outcasts are turning out scores of items essential to the increasing number of U.S. forces in Southeast Asia.
The federal prisoners are supplementing the output of private industry — and, in several instances, producing goods generally unavailable from the Defense Department's usual list of suppliers.
Dog tags and iron bed frames come from the prison at El Reno, Okla. Towels, washcloths and the special lightweight blankets needed in tropical South Viet Nam are turned out at Terre Haute, Ind. Dufflebags come from Tallahassee, Fla., while GI jackets, trousers and shoes are produced at Leavenworth, Kan.
Some of the best tire rebuilding in the country, federal prison officials say, is done at Petersburg, Va. Tank treads and wheels are rebuilt there and at Texarkana, Tex.
El Reno makes gun bore brushes, Atlanta stuffs mattresses, Tallahassee and Terre Haute turn out canvas bottoms for the berths on ships, and ship lockers and shelving come from Lewisburg, Pa.
Of the $50-million worth of goods turned out by Federal Prisons, Inc., in the past fiscal year — netting a $11-million profit — one-half was for the Defense Department. And military requirements resulted in an $8-million increase in prison production over fiscal 1965.
"Of course, our real job isn't to produce goods but to furnish employment and training to these men," T. Wade Markley, associate commissioner of Federal Prison Industries, said in an interview.
"We've got nothing to sell but high quality and dependable production," he said. "We have a pretty sophisticated quality control program. And we try to follow the highest private industry standards so that we can better prepare our men for the outside world."
While private industry and labor sometimes complain when prison industries branch into new areas of production, Markley said, they generally are quick to cooperate.
"We have less problems, in many respects, in producing some of these items than private industry," he said. "We are quality conscious more than cost conscious. And we are able to produce in accordance with the military specifications given us in advance, rather than trying to produce something and hope it will sell."

1 Dead, 9 Missing on Mountain

CHAMONIX, France (AP) — An American airman fell to his death on the Matterhorn Wednesday, and at least nine climbers from Germany and Japan were reported missing today in a snowstorm on Mont Blanc. Two other climbers died on Mont Blanc Wednesday.
Swiss police said Joseph Gordon St. Germain of Monson, Mass., fell more than 1,000 feet while trying to climb the 14,880-foot Matterhorn. The soldier was stationed at the U.S. air base in Sembach, Germany.
Police said a British climber was killed on Mont Blanc Wednesday and a group of three Britons and two Czechs left a companion dead of exhaustion at the summit.

3 Contempt Cases Are Reversed

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Court of Appeals here has thrown out the contempt of Congress convictions of three peace activists who refused to answer questions of the House Committee of Un-American Activities.
In voiding the convictions Tuesday, the court held there was no legislative review of the committee's decision in December, 1964, to issue contempt citations against Damar Wilson and Donna Allen of Women Strike for Peace, a non-bomb organization, and Russell Nixon, general manager of the National Guardian, a New York newspaper.

Our guess is that most players would succeed in being set at today's three no-trump contract. They would play a low diamond from dummy at trick one. East would win with the queen and return the suit and eventually declarer would lose four diamonds and either a club or a heart. There would probably be a few comments about finesses not working and the next hand would be dealt.

An expert would go right up with dummy's ace of diamonds. Then he would lose the heart finesse but no harm would be done. The diamond suit would be blocked and expert South would make his contract with three spades, three hearts, and one diamond and two clubs.

This is such an important case of an exception to the rule of second hand low that it is worth analyzing thoroughly. To start with, South only fears a five-two or six-one diamond break. Assuming a fourth best lead, East has only one diamond higher than the six.

It must be either the king, queen, ten or eight. It is not the eight. West would not open the six from a suit headed by king-queen-ten. Thus it is one of the three higher cards.

If it is the king or queen the play of the ace will lead to a block of the diamond suit while the ordinary play of second hand low will permit West to establish the suit right away.

THE CHOICE IS NOW CLEAR!

Vital, Factual Information to Every Hempstead County Citizen

The Southwest Arkansas Water District handling the sale and distribution of water from Millwood Dam to the Nekoosa Edwards paper mill at Ashdown, municipal water for Foreman and possibly Texarkana, on the west side of the river, and the Champion Paper Company, in McNab-Fulton area, municipal water to Hope, Lewisville, Magnolia and other cities on the east side of the river, have made an application to the Economic Development Administration for a grant of $4,800,000.00 and loan of $4,800,000.00 with an interest rate of 3.75 per cent.

There have been meetings and a good deal of hours and thousands of dollars spent in perfecting this application because it will permit reduction in the cost of water to not only the paper mills but also the cities involved of approximately 50 per cent over the cost of the same water financed through the sale of revenue bonds.

This means that it can make the difference in the expansion of the Nekoosa Edwards mill and the location and expansion of a paper mill at the Fulton-McNab area. Furthermore, it would certainly make the difference between the feasibility of the purchase of municipal water for all of the towns involved.

In other words, the outcome of this loan and grant can put the area of Little River County and Hempstead County, with the other counties in the Water District, in the most favorable position for not only the anticipated use of the water, but the future use and sale of the water.

The status of the loan and grant at this time is, according to our understanding, that it has been approved by the Economic Development Administration and is now in the office of the Secretary of Commerce.

Loans and grants of such a large amount requires the approval of the Secretary of Commerce. As only $14,000,000.00 is allocated each month in the entire 50 states of the United States, our application for $9,600,000.— represents about 70 per cent of the total amount of money allocated to the entire United States in one month.

Naturally the White House will be very cautious as to whether they approve or disapprove this high percentage of a total months grant under the Economic Development Administration program.

The members of our congressional delegation, headed by Senator John L. McClellan, are doing all they can to push through approval of this loan and grant at the earliest possible date.

Since Nekoosa Edwards' plant in Little River County is progressing at a rapid rate and bids are scheduled to be let on the water district's distribution system on the west side of the river by November 1st, it is imperative that the water district know the source of its money for financing not only this part of the distribution system but the entire water distribution system.

If this loan and grant is not approved by the November 1st deadline, then either the Nekoosa Edwards plant will have to delay their construction schedule or revenue bonds will have to be sold for the west side of the river distribution system.

In this event it would probably have to be a new application filed with the Economic Development Administration for the distribution system to the east side of the river and whatever paper mill that was located and built on the Fulton-McNab site. Therefore it is extremely important that this project be approved in its present status for both sides of the river.

The decision for the approval or rejection of this loan and grant by the White House would definitely be affected by the favorable or unfavorable political situation in the state of Arkansas.

Since all of our congressional delegation have been re-elected in the Democratic primaries by overwhelming majorities, and the only seat to be filled is in the Fourth Congressional District, which will be determined by August 9th, leaving only the race for Governor of Arkansas that can materially affect this political atmosphere in the State of Arkansas.

The twenty years of hard work and thousands of dollars spent by individuals and thousands of hours both dedicated to the industrial development in this area due to Millwood water, as well as the Millwood water being made available to municipalities at an attractive price, hangs in the balance today, with the future of this area and the realization of the plans and dreams of thousands of citizens.

A setback at this time would materially affect the outcome of this industrial development. A committee representing the Southwest Arkansas Water District is going to Washington, D.C. to meet with Senator McClellan between August 15th and August 20th.

Senator McClellan will be expected to direct this committee and attempt to get the approval of this loan and grant by the White House. It is a most crucial trip and the foregoing is self-explanatory as to the importance of it.

It is sincerely hoped that this trip will not be condemned to failure before it is made by an unfavorable Political Atmosphere in Arkansas because any excuse that could be used to reject or delay the approval of this loan and grant, with loans and grants being made in other states, could delay our industrial development for years to come.

Don't turn back the clock on 20 years of hard work. We have Millwood Dam. Lets continue to work and develop its industrial waters to the full extent, which will mean hundreds of jobs for Hope, Hempstead County and Southwest Arkansas citizens, and contribute to the future of our own young men and women. Let's preserve our pride, our progress and prosperity.

The foregoing is why, we the Frank Holt for Governor Committee of Hempstead County, believe the choice is clear in the election Tuesday.

In the scheme of things ... it may matter not what happens to Frank Holt. But it matters a LOT what happens to Hope, Hempstead County and Southwest Arkansas.

Police Break
California
Negro Riot

By WILLIAM C. WERTZ
MENLO PARK, Calif. (AP)—An advancing line of 20 policemen accompanied by dogs today dispersed a crowd of 300 to 400 Negro youths who screamed epithets at them and hurled rocks and bottles.

Another 30 officers with dogs and riot guns had been called to the Negro neighborhood by a dispute that followed a cafe fight.

Two Negroes were arrested. Several policemen and Negroes suffered minor injuries, and many windows were broken in stores and autos.

Trouble began before midnight Thursday in the east part of Menlo Park, a suburb of about 30,000 south of San Francisco. Two policemen were called to stop a fight at a cafe in the Negro neighborhood.

Police ended that fight without making an arrest but were attacked by a crowd of Negro youths after they returned to their patrol car. The scuffle with police started, officers said, when Negroes started shouting obscenities.

A call for help brought more police, San Mateo County sheriff's deputies and California highway patrolmen. A large crowd gathered.

The crowd began throwing objects at the police and their vehicles. "Wait until tomorrow night!" and "We live here, you don't!" the crowd shouted.

The crowd finally was scattered by the 20 officers who advanced in a line, carrying billy clubs.

Let the Youngsters
Work Less, and Old
Folks More: Boyle

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP)—Many a man hates the idea of compulsory retirement at the age of 65.

"It's unfair," he says. "Work is the only thing left that I really enjoy. Why should it be taken away from me?"

On the other hand, many a young college graduate at 21 or 22 hates the idea of having to settle down to the responsibility of a job.

"It's unfair," he says. "I want to live a little, see the world. Why should I have to spend nearly 45 years on a treadmill before I can get a pension? It looks like I'll be forever in Dullsville."

Well, perhaps these complaining old men and young men have a point. Maybe we ought to reverse present practices and let the young work less and the old men work longer.

It could be worked out somewhat as follows:

Carrying his ink-wet sheepskin in hand, Ned Bumble, just turned 22, creeps in fearfully for his first day on his new job.

"Glad to have you with us, Ned," says the personnel executive. "We've decided to start you at a pension of $10,000 annually for the first three years. You've earned a good rest, so enjoy it."

"Come back to see me on your 25th birthday, and we'll begin putting your nose to the grindstone."

Ned, happily worn out from traveling the world and chasing the girls, returns three years later and buckles down at $20,000 a year.

These are his orders: "Just show up on Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, and drop in Fridays to pick up your check. Don't bother to come in on Mondays at all. No fellow your age is really strong enough to face work on Mondays. Naturally, we're giving you six weeks of vacation."

Well, Ned marries, has some kids, buys a house, and slowly begins settling into life's routine.

At 35, he is patted on the back by the personnel executive and informed: "You're doing fine, Ned. As a reward, we're cutting your pay to $10,000 and your vacation to four weeks. And by the way, from now on you can come in on Mondays, too — if you really

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 5 (AP)—Charles Joseph Whitman was a "crazy, deranged" man as he prepared to kill and die Monday, a grand jury report says.

Temperature continued on the cool side for August in Arkansas today.

While the U.S. Weather Bureau forecast a slight warming trend through Saturday, the outlook was for temperatures to range two to six degrees below normal.

Clouds appeared over the state during the night increasing the possibility of rain this weekend. The forecast called for partly cloudy to occasionally cloudy with widely scattered afternoon and evening thundershowers Saturday.

Minimum temperatures to night were expected to range from 62 to 72.

Overnight lows ranged from 53 degrees at Calico Rock to 66 at Portland.

No rain was reported during the 24-hour period ended at 6 a.m.

31 others.

Finally, Austin policemen aided by a lone civilian rushed him in his lofty lair and shot him to death.

What went on in the dark recesses of Whitman's mind? What caused this "tender" husband, called a "swell guy" by his friends, to turn to butchery? What derailed his apparently orderly thinking processes onto a path of mass murder?

The grand jury said a small tumor close to the brain stem "undoubtedly caused him much mental pain and possibly contributed to his insane actions."

Dr. Coleman de Chenar, however, said the pecan-size, non-malignant tumor "could not have had any influence on the psychic behavior." Dr. Chenar is a pathologist doing the Whitman autopsy.

A person present in the grand jury room during the testimony contended there was no conflict between Dr. Chenar and the grand jury report.

"He said there was no medical correlation to psychosis, but the tumor was a possible aggravation to his mental condition. He said a brain tumor, wherever located, could aggravate his condition," the person said.

Dr. Chenar has been studying Whitman's brain. Authorities said his formal, written autopsy report would be made public today.

Dr. de Chenar, awaiting his appearance Thursday before the grand jury, answered newsmen's questions about his study of the Whitman brain, which was badly torn by shotgun slugs.

"You can't just study a brain and tell if one is insane," he said. "A person might have childhood encephalitis which would damage the brain. He might preserve outwardly normal behavior, yet be mean and

Tom Gentry

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Dr. Ralph A. Phelps of Arkadelphia, president of Ouachita Baptist University has urged members of Churches United Against Gambling to oppose T. J. Gentry for Position 6 of the state Supreme Court.

Phelps, president of GUA when it fought a proposed constitutional amendment which would have permitted Garland County to legalize casino gambling, said Gentry gave his "outspoken endorsement" to the proposed amendment.

Gentry, who, as attorney general, raided Hot Springs gambling establishments in 1956, publicly supported the proposed gambling amendment in 1964 on grounds that gambling would exist in Hot Springs, legal or not, as long as Garland County residents wanted it.

In reply, Gentry said Phelps "is clearly misquoting my position."

Gentry's opponent in the Aug. 9 Democratic primary runoff is John A. Fogleman of West Memphis. Phelps' letter to CUAG members did not mention Fogleman, who ran second to Gentry in the July 26 preferential primary.

But at least they let him work when he wanted to — when he was old and there was nothing else he could think of worth doing.

Worm-diggers win strike

WISCASSET, Maine (AP)—Wiscasset's worm diggers strike is over. The worm diggers won a 25-cent-per-100-worms price hike from the worm dealers.

The dispute concerned blood worms, prized by sports fishermen for bait. They are shipped all over the East Coast.

Some 300 men make a living digging the blood worms along the shore of this old seaport, famed in clipper ship days as the home of wealthy captains in the China trade.

Digger Darrell Russell observed: "We even dig during the winter, sometimes at 10 degrees below zero."

Johnson and Holt Begin
Runoff Drive

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Jim Johnson said Thursday night that the 106,000 votes he got in the Democratic gubernatorial primary showed that the people of Arkansas were tired of federal control and political manipulation in state government.

His opponent in the runoff next Tuesday, Frank Holt, meanwhile, said that Johnson and his "apostles of discord" are trying to make Arkansas "a last-ditch battleground in a war against the 20th Century."

The two men who led the July 26 primary ticket each went on television with their messages, and sent emissaries around the state.

Mrs. Johnson spoke at a rally in Jonesboro, and relayed word that her husband was fully behind moves to grant university status to Arkansas State College. This included financial support to make it a university in the fullest sense of the word, too, she said.

At Paragould, Brooks Hays and Jack Holt Sr. spoke for Frank Holt.

Hays, who ran third in the first primary race for the Democratic nomination, said Arkansas is in desperate need of responsible leadership.

Jack Holt, the brother of Frank, asked a crowd at a drive-in theater:

"Are you willing to vote for progress and peace in Arkansas or for hate and vituperation that will set the state back 30 years?"

Frank Holt unleashed his most vigorous attack to daze on Johnson, telling his viewers that Johnson's campaign is guided by extreme radicals who want the state to "turn its face backward to turmoil and danger...turn its back on America and make the state a place where hate is the public policy."

Johnson's election would be a tragedy which Arkansas can't afford, Holt said. What Johnson has said already in the race is threatening the various federal programs in Arkansas, Holt said.

He also said no important industry will come to Arkansas if Johnson is elected, because of his "radical extremism."

Johnson said it was ridiculous for Holt to assert that election of Johnson would damage federal aid programs or hinder industrialization.

Federal aid is administered under federal law that applies to all state alike, he said.

"Federal aid is not being denied to any state that refused to vote blind endorsement of Lyndon Johnson," Jim Johnson said.

"I'll do everything within my power to get our fair share" of federal aid, he said.

Johnson said the fact that he led the primary ticket showed that "You're telling Washington you're tired of a no-win war in Viet Nam, sending obsolete munition to our troops and foreign aid to countries which oppose us and tired of federal control of property."

And you've told the manipulators in state government that you're tired of paying $100,000 to pets of the administration (of Gov. Orval Faubus) for office rent when there is vacant space in your own Capitol."

Holt, Johnson said, is "the candidate who hears no evil, sees no evil and speaks no evil as far as the machine is concerned. He dares not criticize his masters."

He invited his listeners to "rid the state of parasites and move on to a more glorious tomorrow" under his "enlightened, courageous and constructive leadership."

Johnson continued his running feud with the Arkansas Gazette, saying that the newspaper was trying to create an image of Johnson which the Gazette could attack and destroy.

"For once I agree with the Gazette. That image of Jim Johnson should be destroyed," Johnson said.

Earlier in the day, Holt met with Dr. Clifton Ganus, president of Harding College at Searcy, and Ganus gave Holt his endorsement.

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—The Democratic Party's final, official vote tabulation from the July 26 primary showed today that James Pilkinton of Hope, and not Joe Basore of Cherokee Village, made the runoff for lieutenant governor.

In unofficial tabulations Basore was shown as the No. 2 candidate in the eight-man race, a few hundred votes ahead of Pilkinton.

The shift in the vote totals placed Pilkinton ahead of Basore, setting up a runoff match between Pilkinton and the ticket leader, Claude Carpenter of Little Rock.

It also set up mass confusion. Ballots have already been printed in almost all counties for Tuesday's runoff, but they carry the name of Basore where Pilkinton's name should be.

There was speculation that one of the candidates might seek an injunction to halt the election until correct ballots can be printed and distributed to voting precincts.

Absentee ballots, carrying Basore's name rather than Pilkinton's, have already been cast in most, if not all counties.

Basore declined to comment temporarily, saying he wanted to talk first with Pilkinton, who endorsed Basore Thursday.

Leon B. Catlett, state Democratic Party chairman, said the final official tabulation showed Carpenter with 108,358 votes. It gave Pilkinton 81,562 and Basore 81,169, a difference of 393 votes.

The Associated Press' last unofficial tabulation, with five boxes out, showed Basore with a lead of 886 votes, 81,158 to 80,292.

The missing boxes in the unofficial tabulation were one each in Cross, Grant and Pope counties and two in Lawrence County.

But Catlett said the shift apparently came in Clark County, which broke down this way: — Unofficial returns: Pilkinton 2,356, Basore 361.

— Official returns: Pilkinton 3,327, Basore 371.

Pilkinton, who was flying from Hope to Little Rock in Basore's plane, could not be reached immediately for comment.

Catlett said he didn't know what the party would do about the situation.

"I just don't know what action we'll be taking," he said. Harvey Combs, state insurance commissioner and a member of the state Democratic Central Committee, said this was the first time such a reversal had occurred in preparation for a runoff.

Jack Lynn, secretary of the party, notified the Basore headquarters and Pilkinton's office of the shift early today. The news got to members of the press when Basore aides began to cancel newspaper advertising boosting his candidacy.

Mrs. Ann Basore, the candidate's wife, said, "It looks like Joe has come up a few hundred votes short."

"If this is true, I don't know what we'll do," she said. "I can't make a statement for Joe, but I do not feel defeated and I've talked to him and I don't think he feels defeated."

And Rev. S. A. Whitlow said some action is essential because of the growing financial impact of Medicare on the center, which will cause it to lose "a minimum of $150,000 a year."

Anti-Strike
Bill Lags
in Congress

By WALTER R. MEARS
WASHINGTON (AP)—Politically wary House members begin their attempt to deal with the marathon airlines strike today — but any government action to get the planes flying again remained days away.

The election year battle which raged before the Senate passed a strike-stopping legislation Thursday was certain to be renewed — perhaps intensified — in the House.

The first step there: A public hearing before the Commerce Committee, with testimony from Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz; William J. Curtin, top negotiator for the five grounded airlines; and Joseph W. Ramsey, who speaks for the machinists union at the bargaining table.

Rep. Harley O. Staggers, D-W.Va., the chairman, said the hearings probably would continue for two or three days, perhaps until next Tuesday or on Wednesday.

Then the committee would have to decide whether to accept, reject or alter the joint resolution the Senate passed.

The Senate move would have Congress order striking members of the AFL-CIO International Association of Machinists back to work for 30 days, and hand President Johnson authority to extend that period to six months.

"That proposal will never go anywhere over here," said Rep. William H. Ayres, R-Ohio. "We'll give the President the tools to settle it if he feels a national emergency exists."

Johnson ignored the demands of debating senators — Democrats and Republicans — that he take a stand on strike-ending legislation. But he did relay word that if there was to be a law, he preferred the version approved by the Senate to one which would have assigned him the whole task of issuing any back-to-work commands.

Baptists
May Give Up
Hospital

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Officers of the Arkansas Baptist Medical Center have recommended that the state Baptist Convention give up its control of the hospital so it can get federal aid without violating the principle of separation of church and state.

The trustees of the operating committee of the executive board of the Baptist State Convention have made a statement to this effect. The trustees meet with the finance committee of the convention and then with the executive board Aug. 23.

If approved then, the request would be presented to the convention itself in November.
